He looked at her now, not glancing but squarely, his eyes catching and holding hers. "But there. In the wood. Under the trees. There is the old wisdom. Never old. I can't teach you. I can take you into the Grove." After a minute he stood up. "Yes?" "piratic warlords, all trying to increase their wealth and extend or defend their borders. Trade. Golden did not like the child. She was both outspoken and defensive, both rash and timid. She was a girl, and a year younger than Diamond, and a witch's daughter. He wished his son would play with boys his own age, his own sort, from the respectable families of Glade. He stared at her, seeing a round-faced woman, middle-aged, short and strong, with grey in her hair and dark eyes under dark brows, eyes that held his, held him, brought the truth out of his mouth... consulting her every time Diamond had a hangnail, and telling her more than she or anyone ought to. Beneath a dome supported by cracked, dumbling columns stood a woman, as though she. "Where?" he whispered, and then said the word aloud in the language all things understand that have no other language... about a hotel.
